

Recycle your cell phone and help keep our planet clean!

Did you know that less than 2% of the 130 million cell phones discarded annually across the nation are recycled? Walmart.com, Earth Share, and ReCellular are working together to keep cell phones out of our landfills and environment. Plus, proceeds from recycled phones help support Earth Share!

Earth Share is a nationwide network of America's most respected environmental and conservation nonprofit organizations. Earth Share is dedicated to promoting environmental awareness and supporting the vital charities that work to protect the environment and our well-being every day. Earth Share's charities strive to clean our air and water; help us raise healthy children; protect endangered wildlife and habitats; create safe outdoor recreational opportunities; preserve open spaces and ecosystems; and much more. One Environment. One Simple Way To Care For It.®

ReCellular is the largest recycler and reseller of used wireless phones and accessories in the wireless industry. In 2005, over 3 million wireless handsets were collected, refurbished and resold or recycled by ReCellular worldwide. ReCellular is committed to the protection of the environment by efficiently recycling all of its electronic waste. ReCellular goes above and beyond the regulations and recommendations of government agencies and environmental organizations to demonstrate our commitment to a sustainable environment. This includes active partnerships with the National Recycling Coalition, Michigan Business Pollution Prevention Partnership, and the Washtenaw County Pollution Prevention Coalition.

Recycling your old mobile phone and other wireless devices is simple and FREE!

1. Power off phone.
2. Place phones & accessories in any type of box, i.e. shoe box, cereal box, granola bar box, etc. You may also use a bag or envelope.
3. Print pre-paid postage and affix it to the package/envelope. Make sure any previous delivery address and bar codes are covered.
4. Drop package/envelope in the mailbox!
